PATHS Innovation and Implementation: A Working Conference

This conference is for all experienced PATHS teachers, coordinators, researchers, administrators and trainers. The purpose of this working conference is to share new ideas and innovations. It is not a training for people who want to learn to use PATHS for the first time. Planned sessions include:

- The New Grade Level PATHS Curriculum
- PATHS Coaching Strategies
- Coaching Research
- PATHS Leaders Panel
- Mindfulness
- PATHS in the Middle School Grades

Keynote Speakers

Linda Lantieri, MA is the Director of the Inner Resilience Program whose mission is to cultivate the inner lives of students, teachers, and schools by integrating social and emotional learning with contemplative practice. Her most recent book is Building Emotional Intelligence: Techniques to Cultivate Inner Strength in Children.

David Kisor, Composer and Performer, Music Director for Children Inc., Covington, Kentucky. David is back by popular demand! His social-emotional music CDs have won many national awards including the Mom's Choice Award, the Teacher's Choice Award, and the Oppenheim Award.

Call for Presenters

We encourage you to present your field experience or research with PATHS. Presentations can be conducted by groups, individuals, or be part of a panel discussion. Panel presentation (3 speakers) will be 75-90 minutes in length. Individual presentations/workshops can vary in length (30-90 minutes). If there is enough interest we will also have a poster session. To be considered for a presentation, display, or poster session, or panel discussion, please contact Mark Greenberg at mxg47@psu.edu.
